State of the Economy – Real Estate and Construction Sectors

Professor Roger Tutterow, Kennesaw State University

The Winning Project Team

David Carl (VP, Gay Construction), Mike Carroll (Regional Director of Sales, Graybar Electric), and Stan Marek (CEO, Marek Interiors) discuss what it means to be a “good partner” on a difficult project, overcoming obstacles, and build relationships for future projects.

Lean Construction

By Turner Construction Company. Early cooperation across tiers of a project increases customer value, decreases waste and minimizes disputes. Your firm’s relevance on future projects will be impacted by its ability to lead, understand and participate in this approach.

Public Private Partnerships (P3)

State Senator Hunter Hill (sponsor of SB 59, broadly enabling P3 legislation), Kurt Ehlers (VP Campus Living, Corvias Group), John Dibari (VP of Finance, Corvias Group) and a representative of The Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia discuss the future of public procurement, including the developing procurement methodology referred to as P3.

Revenue Recognition

By HLB Gross Collins. Changes in how revenue must be reported has far-reaching implications for any construction firm. Experts will discuss the nuts and bolts of the new requirements and how construction firms should plan for these changes.

Sustainability-Design and Construction, Now and in the Future

Pete Choquette, AIA, Design & Consulting Department Manager and Darren Draper, PE, Commissioning Department Manager of Epsten Group discuss the evolving market towards more efficient and sustainable design.

This event will support 180 Your Grief, a not for profit that helps empower widows and women experiencing grief (<http://www.teamlady180.com/>). We will be collecting monetary donations and contributions to their Gift Cards Giving Hope Program.
